"I protect the innocent because I want to be the #1 superhero on this planet...Before me were many but after me will be none... I want to be exalted above the others."

Griselda
"Child, Why Shall You Suffer?"

Alfredo

"The darkness creeps over my body the cold stone turns warm I feel Alive. I worry about humanity, but I hate when they argue, when they fight for things they don't really have to fight about."

Ben

“Is this It?”

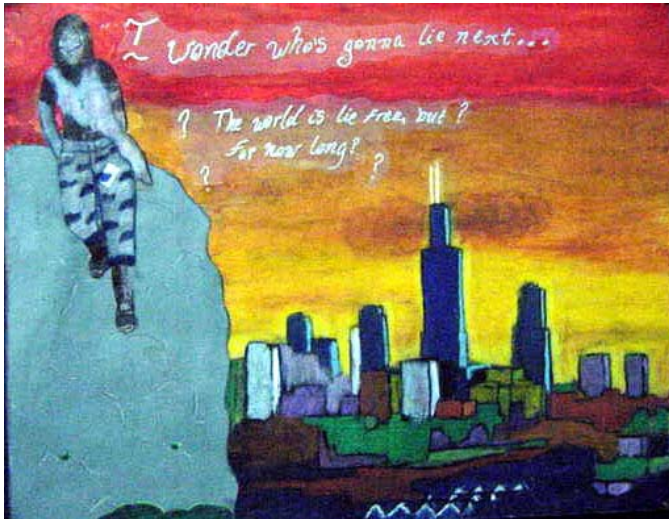

Ricky

“This, Yes,
Chicago is my task...”

Ime

“Why do I have to save the world?”

Cassandra

I wonder who's gonna to lie next....The world is lie free, but for how long."

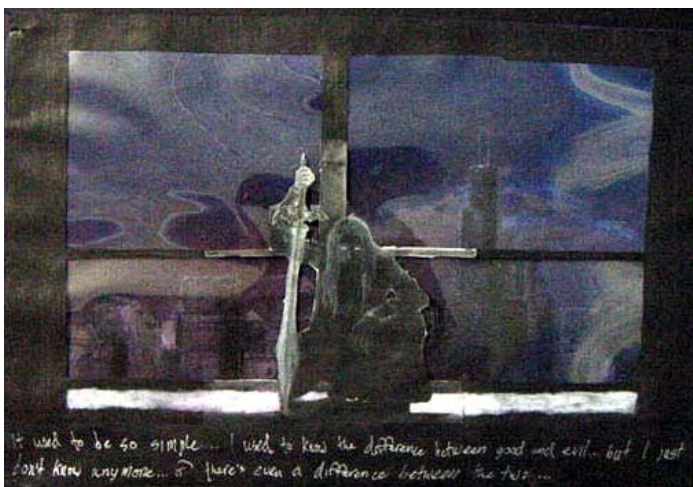

Mat

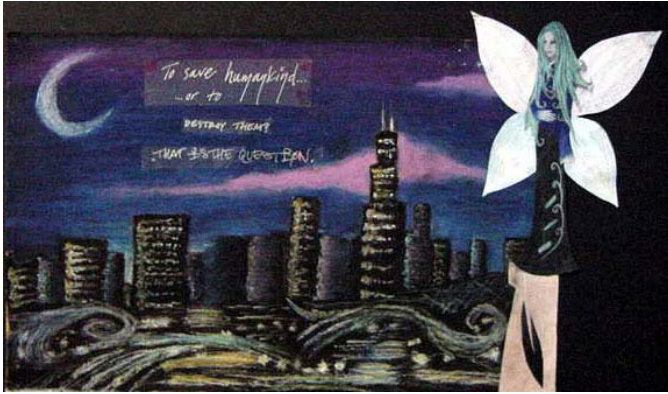

"...Thanks blur together with screams over the sound of a distant thunder..."

Alex

"It used to be so simple...I used to know the difference between good and evil...But I just don't know anymore...if there's even a difference between the two."

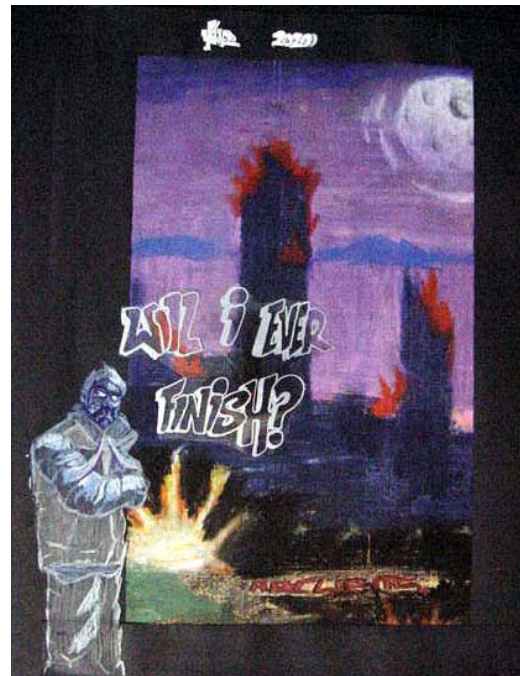

Laura

To save humankind or to destroy them?... That is the question."

Vicente
"Will I Ever Finish?"

Tori

"We'll see how brave you are; we'll see how fast you'll be running..."

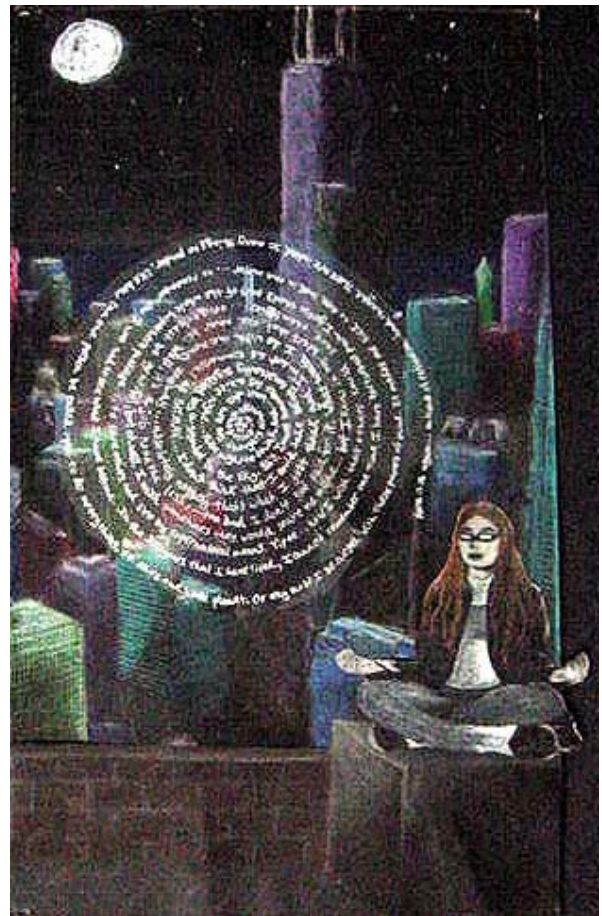

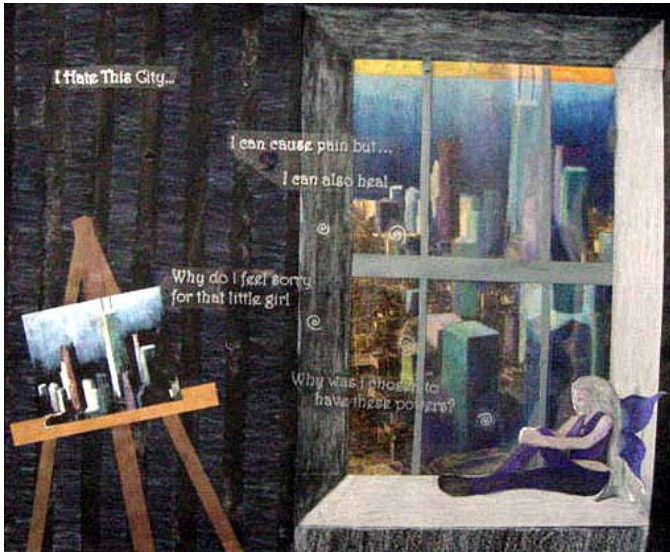

Leon

“I should make this whole planet suffer !! But I won't...I can't...This was the old way... We are no longer of one thought, but two thought... At least I hope we are...”

Julie

“Here it is again...a time of reflection and thought. There are indeed so many things to ponder—like how can one person be called upon to do everything, to save out little planet? Or why must I be cursed with these powers of mine? It makes me sick to even look in the mirror... to remember who I was and to see what I have become. In the 300 years that I have lived, I cannot remember one time I have had torturous pain. I guess that's part of the whole superhero package... to save others and live by supernatural means. Yippee...How I wish that others could save themselves.... or at least be grateful, but I know in my heart that can never be. Well, it's a job nonetheless...too bad I do not get paid for it. What would I do with the money anyways? Absolutely nothing, that's what. I just thank god, I'm not as commercial as batman...I don't think that I could take being constantly signaled by a symbol in the sky. Still I must comment it's a nice night...nice night to think and...Wait! Why are my thoughts always whispering? Oh great...”

Ryin

"I hate this city... I can cause pain but... also heal... Why do I feel sorry for that little girl... Why was I cursed to have these powers?"

Lourdes

"I am she who never sleeps-the unresting life and death. Don't I help those in pain? Don't I know the constant sorrow? Yet, why is there not always a welcome for the new who are born?"
