

You are cordially invited as our guest to join with the University of Illinois at Chicago and other community organizations in the second of three conferences about community-based partnership research.

Protecting Participants in Community Research: A Community-University Dialogue

Friday, April 18, 2008

9:30 AM – 3:30 PM

Lunch and refreshments will be provided.

Chicago Urban League
4510 S. Michigan Ave. (free parking)

Sponsored by the University of Illinois at Chicago Great Cities Institute, Healthy City Collaborative, Institute for Health Research and Policy, and Office for the Protection of Research Subjects

Purpose:

- To foster respectful and equal collaborative relationships between community partners and UIC researchers
- To dialogue with community partners about the information they need to more knowledgeably participate in research when approached by university researchers
- To increase organizations' capacity to conduct their own research or to lead or co-lead research efforts
- To increase the capacity of community organizations to inform and protect the community members they represent

This discussion is designed for community members, staff of community-based organizations, community service providers, people who are new to or interested in community partnership research or those who have experience but wish to refresh their knowledge and share their experience.

Space is limited. Register early! Fax registrations to Kelley Martin at Fax-312-996-4979 or email to kmarti6@uic.edu. For additional information call 312-996-2597 for Kelly Martin.
