

Jane Addams, Democracy and Social Ethics (New York: MacMillan, 1907); 279-281.

INDEX<sup>1</sup>

[Editor's Note: The format of the index has been modified]

- Alderman, basis of his political success, 226, 228, 240, 243, 248, 267; his influence on morals of the American boy, 251, 255, 256; on standard of life, 257; his power, 232, 233, 235, 246, 260; his social duties, 234, 236, 243, 250.
- Art and the workingman, 219, 225.
- "Boss," the, ignorant man's dependence on, 260, 266.
- Business college, the, 197
- Charity, administration of, 14, 22; neighborly relations in, 29, 230; organized, 25; standards in, 1, 27, 32, 38, 49, 58; scientific vs. human relations in, 64.
- Child labor, premature work, 41, 188; first laws concerning, 167, 170.
- City, responsibilities of, 266.
- Civil service law, its enforcement, 231, 233.
- Commercial and industrial life, social position of, compared, 193.
- Commercialism and education, 190-199, 216; morals captured by, 264; polytechnic schools taken by, 202.
- Coöperation, 153, 158.
- Cooper, Peter, 202.
- Dayton, Ohio, factory at, 216.
- Death and burials among simple people, 238.
- Domestic service, problem of, in France, England, and America, 135; industrial difficulty of, 106; moral issues of, 106.
- Education, attempts at industrial, 201; Commercialism in, 196, 201; in commercialism, 216; in technical schools, 201; lack of adaptation in, 199, 208, 212; of industrial workers, 180, 193, 199, 219; offset to overspecialization, 211; public school and, 190, 192; relation of, to the child, 180, 185, 193; relation of, to the immigrant, 181-186; university extension lectures and settlements, 199; workingmen's lecture courses, 214.
- Educators, mistakes of, 212; new demands on, 178, 192, 201, 211.
- Family claim, the, 4, 74, 78; daughter's college education, 82; employer's vs. domestic's, 123, 124; on the daughter, 82; on the son, ibid.

Family life, misconception of, 116.

Filial relations, clash of moral codes, 94.

Funerals, attitude of simple people toward, 238.

Household employee, the, 108, 109; character of, 112; domestic vs. [end page 279] factory, 116, 118, 119, 122; isolation of, 109, 111, 117, 120, 132 morals of, 125; unnatural relation of, 113, 120, 121, 126, 127; unreasonable demands on, 113 115; residence clubs for, 133; social position of, 114, 119, 122.

Household employer, the, undemocratic ethics of, 116; reform of in relation to employee, 126.

Household, the, advantages and disadvantages of factory work over, 129; competition of factory work with, 128; difficulties of the small, 135; industrial isolation of, 117; industry of, transferred to factory, 104, 105; lack of progress in, 117; origin of, 104; social vs. individual aspects of 103; suburban difficulties of 134; wages in, 131.

Hull-house experiences, 43, 53, 58, 59, 240, 247.

Human life, value of, 70 178.

Individual action vs. associated 137, 153, 158; advantages of, 158, 162; limitations of, 165; moral evolution involved in, 226.

Individual vs. social needs, 155, 269

Individual vs. social virtues, 224 227, 265.

Italian immigrant, the, conception of abstract virtue among, 229; dependence of, on their children 184; education of, 185; new conditions of life of, 181.

Juvenile criminal, the, evolution of, 53-56, 187.

Labor, division of, 210, 213; reaction from, 215.

Law and order, 172, 174, 234.

Moral fact and moral idea, 227, 229, 273.

Morality, natural basis of, 268; personal and social, 6, 176, 103.

Philanthropic standpoint, the, its dangers, 150, 155-157.

Philanthropist, the, 154, 175-176.

Political corruption, ethical development in, 270; formation of reform clubs, 246; greatest pressure of, 260; individual and social aspect of, 264; leniency in regard to, 239; responsibility for, 256, 263; selling of votes, 244-246; street railway and saloon interest, 262.

Political leaders, causes of success of, 224.

Political standards, 228, 229, 251-253, 261; compared with Benjamin Franklin's, 255.

Referendum method, the, 164.

Reformer, the, ethics of, 270.

Reform movements in politics, causes of failure in, 222, 240, 262, 272, 274; business men's attitude toward, 265.

Rumford, Count, 117.

Ruskin, 219.

Saloon, the, 243, 264.

Social claim, the, 4, 77; child study and, 92, 180; misplaced energy and, 90.

Social virtues, code of employer, 143, 148; code of laboring man, ibid.

Technical schools, 201; adaptation of, to workingmen, 204; compromises in, 203; polytechnic institutions, 202; textile schools, 203; women in, ibid.

Thrift, individualism of, 31, 40, 212.

Trades unions, 148, 158, 167, 169, 171; sympathetic strikes, 174. [end page 280]

Workingman, the, ambition of, for his children, .191, 258; art in relation to, 218; charity of, 154; evening classes and social entertainment for, 189; grievance of, 211; historical perspective in the work of, ibid.; organizations of, 214; standards for political candidate, 257.

---

<sup>1</sup> This index is not intended to be exhaustive.